

AVL is the world's largest independent company for development, simulation and testing technology of powertrains for passenger cars, trucks and large engines.

Calibration Engineer

Érd

MAIN RESPONSIBILITIES

- Calibration of engine control units in development and series production projects
- Standard and customer related optimization of engine control parameters
- Pre-processing, executing, fine tuning and post-processing of tests on test beds and in vehicles
- Climate tests on different locations of the world
- Presentation of results for customer
- Customer support in engine certification and pre-processing of series production

YOUR PROFILE

- Finished BSc Study: mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, vehicle engineering or mechatronics engineering
- Strong knowledge in Thermodynamics and ICE
- Excellent computer skills (MS Office and base of application software)
- Calibration knowledge in Diesel or gasoline engine
- Good English or German knowledge
- Well organised, target-oriented work
- Innovative, reliable, communicative person
- Standalone work in team
- Flexibility, willing to travel (training abroad)

If you are interested in this position, please send your resume to careerhungary@avl.com.

